TACKLING SEXUAL VIOLENCE

Paving the Way for a Safer and More Equitable Society

In Indonesia, the persistent challenge of sexual violence is a pressing concern. Stepping forward to effect change, UNAIR has undertaken meaningful initiatives with an emphasis on women empowerment and children safeguarding.

A notable initiative by UNAIR is the “Support for Kebonsari Singgahan Village Towards a Woman and Child Friendly Village” project. This endeavour strives to cultivate a secure environment for women and children, exemplifying UNAIR’s dedication to instigating positive societal transformation on a grassroots level.

Parallel of this, ALSA LC UNAIR established a “Sexual Violence Seminar” as an integral component of ALRC 2022. This significant forum push the pressing issue of sexual violence into lime limelight facilitating public discourse. Through this platform, UNAIR elevates informative dialogues and accentuates the urgency of widespread awareness.

Furthermore, in a discourse titled “The Role and Challenges of Women in Strengthening the Rule of Law”, UNAIR underscores the pivotal role that women play in shaping an equitable and inclusive society. The institutions is also at the forefront of deliberations on major legal reforms, such as the Sexual Violence Criminal Laws (TPKS). Dr. Ninik Rahayu, a distinguished faculty member from UNAIR, offers insight into the ramifications and outcomes of these legislative shifts. Additionally, gender specialists from the university provide in-depth analysis regarding the societal and legal repercussions stemming from the TPKS Law. This mirrors UNAIR’s commitment to staying on a line of and offering nuanced viewpoints on prominent legal progressions.

Through these concerted efforts, UNAIR transcends its identity as merely an academic institution to emerge as a formidable force for social change, particularly in the realm of combating sexual violence. With its proactive stance in delivering solutions, fostering education, and championing gender equality, UNAIR is unequivocally committed to propelling societal betterment with a vision of realising a safer and more equitable Indonesia.

DID YOU KNOW?

UNAIR has a Prevention and Handling Task Force (PPKS) to address all forms of sexual violence experienced by the entire UNAIR community.

BRINGING POSITIVE CHANGE THROUGH WOMEN'S LEADERSHIP

Yet, the scope of UNAIR's influence is not confined within the campus boundaries alone. The alumni from Faculty of Political Science (FISIP) UNAIR have embarked on transformative journey, one that underlines the importance of education in empowering children. Through the establishment of the Indonesian Athlete Foundation and the implementation of a program designed to nurture young minds, they are shaping resilient and empowered individuals for a brighter future.

Beyond this, UNAIR students have showcased their remarkable capabilities on the international stage, and won the prestigious Best Delegate award at the International Future Leaders Summit 2022. This achievement not only proves the quality of education provided by UNAIR, but also shows the unmatched excellence of its students on the global stage.

Collectively, these initiatives point out fact that UNAIR is not just a learning institution but a guiding light that empowers both students and community to achieve transformative change. In this journey of enlightenment, women leaders at UNAIR play a crucial role in shaping a more progressive society. UNAIR remains steadfast in its dedication to producing leaders with courage and integrity, who are ready to bring positive change to all levels of society.

UNAIR stands for quality education and for a positive society transformation, with women who are taking the big changes. Prof Myrta Kaulard, a prominent female figure, carries out her duties as Chair of the UNAIR Women and Children Protection Association (PPKS). Her mission is clear: to eradicate sexual violence within the university campuses. Her commitment is to change the university image that is free from all sexual violences, to make a safe and secure environment for all.
